visit to Washington, and to have received this reply from the President: "If the New-York Republicans cannot select a Speaker of the Assembly and other officers of the Legislature without aid from Washington, they had better go into an idiot asylum." The President probably did not express himself quite so forcibly; but the alleged utterance is believed here to represent his actual sentiments concerning the organization of the Legislature.

That there will be no pressure from Washington in favor of this or that candidate for legislative office is the opinion of politicians. The experiment of dictating a nomination from Washington was sufficiently tried a year ago. It is not believed it will be repeated during the re mainder of the President's term of office. Moreover the surprising rally made by the Republican party this fall, after a State Convention notable for its freedom from any kind of "pressure," has convinced Re-publican politicians that the party has the best chance of success when there is the most freedom through The Oscego Times that "If his experience in legis-lation, if the knowledge which that experience has given him of parliamentary ways can be made of any use to the Assembly, his services will be at the entire command of his associates." Mr. Husted has said that "in the sense" of seeking the Speakership he is not a candidate, but it is palpable that he would accept the office. It may so hap-pen that Mr. Littlejohn and Mr. Husted will be setzed upon as candidates before the caucus meets, and be forced forward by their friends. Mr. O'Neil also will not make a personal canvass to obtain the office, although he has an-

MR. CARLISLE'S POSITION.

HE INSISTS HE IS A TARIFF REFORMER. JUDGE BUCKNER SAYS HE IS TOO CONSERVATIVE TO LEAD AN AGITATION-MR. CARLISLE CONFIDENT.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 .- While the question "Shall the Democratic majority in the House make an attempt to revise the tariff and reduce customs duties at the coming session ?" is the main issue which separates Mr. Randall and his supporters from Mr. Carlisle and Mr. Cox and their partisans, there are indications that the lines are not to be so rigidly maintained as the extreme free traders, who favor Mr. Carlisle, could desire. They insist that his election means that such an effort will be made and his defeat that the members of the majority are to be recreant to their principle and false to their constituents. While some of his recent expressions have had a conservative sound, his most ardent and active partisans-men like Morrison, Blackburn, Thompson, Hatch and Mills -are loud in their declarations that, if elected Speaker, Mr. Carlisle will appoint a Committee on Ways and Means which at an early day will report and urge the passage of a bill providing for a radical reduction of customs duties. These men are unquestionably sincere, and their zeal in behalf of the Kentucky candidate is exactly measured by their belief that he will do as they say in regard to

But the election of Mr. Carlisle is also advocated by men who are strongly opposed to any tariff agitation, and who base their advocacy upon the belief that his opinions on the subject agree with their own. Such a man is Congressman Buckner, of Missouri, who arrived here to-day. To a TRIBUNE correspondent to-night Judge Buckner said: "I am opposed to any attempt at tariff legislation at the coming session. I think we ought to wait and see what is to be the effect of the new tariff, not only upon the revenues of the Government, but upon the industries of the country. Meantime the people are not suffering, or, if they are, they do not realize it, and they are making no complaints. It is true the revenues are largely in excess of the current expenditures of the Government, but the excess can be applied to the reduction of the interest-bearing debt, and I am one of those who are inclined to hold that the Government has no actual surplus so long as it owes money and its obligations are subject to redemption. Again such an attempt would be vain and foolish in view of the absolute certainty that the Senate would not pass, nor the President approve, any tariff bill that would be satisfactory to the majority of the House. We should not only have our labor for our pains, but the great business interests of the country would for months be disturbed and to a considerable extent paralyzed by the needless agitation which such an attempt would produce. The Demoeratic party cannot afford to be responsible for such an agitation on the eve of a Presidential centest, especially when nothing can be done.

"I favor the election of Mr. Carlisle, because I these questions as I am, and I certainly will never vote for a tariff measure which I believe will strike an injurious blow to American industry. I think nearly all of my colleagues from Missouri, who were selected, will support Mr. Carlisle, because they be lieve, as I do, that his election will not mean a reopening of the tariff question. I am sorry to see that some of the extreme men, who advocate Mr. Carlisle's election, do so with the expectation that he will promote an effort for tariff revision this

Judge Buckner thinks that at least seven of the Missouri Representatives will vote for Mr. Carlisle, and he does not think Mr. Randall will receive more than three votes from that State. The Randall men claim five votes from Missouri

CARLISLE FOR TARIFF REFORM. Mr. Carlisle was asked to-night what effect he Southern newspapers would have upon his candidacy. He replied: "Little, if any. I did not care Speaker. What I object to is that The Constitution should so misrepresent me on the tariff question. Please ask it for me by what authority it assumes that I will not, if elected Speaker, make an effort to revise the present tariff. My position on that question is so well known that I fail to see how a man with sufficient intelligence to edit a newspaper could be ignorant of it. Therefore, I consider it a gross misrepresentation, purposely made. As for the Georgia delegation, I have no fears. I do not think the votes of that delegation are under the control of The Atlanta Constitution or of General Gordon or Senator Joe' Brown.

"The Randall papers also claimed that The Charleston News and Courier and The Savannah News had come out against me, which is not true. They are as loyal to me now as they were a year ago. They are both edited by able men and reflect the sentiments of their people.

That is on account of the sugar interests of Louisiana, which the editor thinks will be better protected under Randall as Speaker. The Times-Democrat's open advocacy of Mr. Randall will not cost me a vote. I have never counted upon more than two votes from that State, and I will get them in spite of The Times-Democrat. Nor will it cost me a vote in Mississippi or Arkansas. I see the Randall organs are courting a little paper in New-Albany, Indiana, which has come out against me. I know of only one paper published there, called The Public Press, and edited with ability by a Mr. Given. It is a simon-pure Democratic paper, and favors me It is a simon-pure Democratic paper, and favors me for the Speakership. Mr. Stockslager, who represents that district in Congress, I am assured, is one of my warmest advocates.

MR. CARLISLE'S CONFIDENCE. "My friends need not be alarmed at anything they see or hear in or out of newspapers. I am satisfied that my campaign is advancing as handsomely as I could wish. I can lose promised votes and still be nominated Speaker. Capital may control a few newspapers and a gang of politicians against me, but it cannot control the votes of honest men who were elected to Congress to perform a duty. There are about seventy Democrats of the next House already in the city, and fully one-half have personally pledged me their votes and hearty support. If that is not an indication that I will be elected Speaker, what is I If you cannot believe what a member of Congress tells you about how he will vote, how are you to find out the situation I Do they take an oath to support Rangial! The following dispatch was received by Mr. Randall to-night from New-Orleans: "Manager Burke sent the following last night to the Washington office of The Times-Democrat: With the highest respect and warm personal regard for Carlisle, of my native State, I find him supported by all the leading Free-Traders of the country, and our conviction as regards the best interests of the growing industrial South dictates the expression of The Times-Democrat's preference for the election of Randall for Speaker.' form a duty. EVADING THE CHINESE LAW.

(BT TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.)
WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—Senator Miller, of California, has received a letter from an officer of the Ban Francisco Custom House about the Chinese who arrived there by the City of Pekin on her last voyage from Canton. All of them were armed with "merchants" certificates, issued by the Chinese authorities of Canton. At the time of writing the officer said he had investigated the cases of thirty-seven of the Chinese passengers who bore such certificates, and found that only two of the men were actually mer-chants, the others being common laborers, and, therefore, not entitled to admission into the country. The Chinese Government having declined to permit the United States Consul and indorse the certificates issed by the Chinese authori-ties there, Senator Miller is inclined to think it may be necessary for Congress to amend the law so as to require passports from all Chinese limingrants. This was pro-vided for in the original anti-Chinese hill, which was ve-teed by the President, and it was urged by him as one of the reasons why the measure ought not to become a law.

THREE PERSONS MURDERED.

A HORRIBLE CRIME IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

MAN, WOMAN AND CHILD KILLED-ANOTHER WOMAN SEVERELY INJURED WITH A HATCHET. LACONIA, N. H., Nov. 25 .- At about 5 o'clock this norning the inhabitants of this place were awakened by the ringing of bells and cries of fire. An investigation showed that not only had a fire occurred, but that a brutal crime had been committed, whereby three persons had met their deaths, and another, a devoted wife and mother, is lying at the James Ruddy, together with his wife, age thirtysix, both of Irish descent, and their only child, a year and a half old, lived half a mile from the postoffice, in the northeast part of the village. Ruddy, who was about forty years of age, was considered a respectable man, and had for a long time been employed in the Laconia car works. Thomas Samon, an Englishman, and an acquaintance of the family, whose age is about thirty-six, and who is a cook by trade, lived in the same town. He left his home at 11 o'clock Saturday norning, taking his trunk and wheeling it toward Lake Village, a distance of nearly a mile. He finally stopped at Ruddy's house, leaving his trunk in front of the house, where it remained for two hours, but subsequently took it back to his room. The trunk was carried in by Samon with considerable exertion. Ruddy returned from his work at the usual time. Everything was quiet until early this morning, although lights were seen in the house by neighbors during the night. A SCENE OF HORROR.

Shortly after 4 o'clock this morning S. S. Andrews, a neighbor, was alarmed by a woman's screams. He aroused his son, and together they hurried to Ruddy's house. They found Mrs. Ruddy lying on the ground under a front window, through which she had made a desperate leap. She was bleeding profusely, and upon being asked what was the trouble, said: "Pick me up. I'm all cut to

Mr. Andrews assisted her to the residence of Charles Filgate, directly opposite, and then called by telephone for Chief Officer Judkins and a physician. After waiting a short time for their arrival, Mr. Andrews and his son went to the back door of Ruddy's house and forced it open, the flames at the same instant bursting forth. An alarm of fire was sounded, but the flames were extinguished before the firemen arrived.

Upon gaining an entrance, the officers found lyng upon the kitchen floor the bodies of Ruddy and the child, both cut in a horrible manner and covered with the contents of a feather bed, which had been saturated with kerosene and set on fire. Both bodies were so disfigured by the flames as to be nearly past recognition. In a bedroom was found the trunk mentioned, and the lifeless body of Mrs. Ford, which was identified by her husband. One of her limbs had been chopped off, and the detached member and the remaining leg were bound to the woman's body with a clothes-line. consider hum to be as conservative a man on all | The bed-clothes had been saturated with oil, piled on the body and an attempt made to set them on fire, which failed.

MRS, RUDDY'S ACCOUNT.

Mrs. Ruddy, on being questioned, said the crime was committed by Samon with a hatchet. Officers at once began work on the case, and men were sent in every direction to capture Samon. Coroner Ambrose arrived at noon and at once held an inquest, Mrs. Ruddy's life being uncertain her disposition was taken. It is substantially as follows:

We all went to bed about 9 o'clock. At 11 Samon came into the front room and looked out of the window, saying he was nervous and could not sleep. I got up and made him a cup of tea and went back to bed. At 4 o'clock Samon came into the front room again and acted queerly. He went back into the kitchen. My husband and I then got up, and he also went into the kitchen. I soon heard a fall, thought the change of front on the part of several and going out, found my husband hanging over a chair with his arms down. started for me and struck me with so much about The Atlanta Constitution's change the hatchet on the head. I grabbed as I did about its misrepresentation. I his arm, but he then struck me and threw me to the accord it its right to a preference for floor. He went into the front room and killed the Speaker. What I object to is that The baby, who was crying. While he was there I fried to unlock the kitchen-door, but he returned and again struck me, on the head, knocking me down. I laid perfectly quiet. He went back into the front room and got the baby and then came back and poured feathers and straw over us and went out. I got up abd tried to open the front window, but could not, I then broke a pane of glass and jumped through, He was very nervous in the kitchen nearly all night." The hatchet with which the crime was probably committed was found in the river. The coronor's inquest rendered a verdiet that the persons came to their death at the hands of Thomas Samon. The latter was the hands of Thomas Samon. The latter was arrested this afternoon on the main road between Laconia and Plymouth. He did not resist arrest, and has been taken in charge by Plymouth officers. Suspicion being against Ford, the husband of the murdered woman, that he might be implicated in the affair, he was arrested this forenoon and remains in enstody. Several suspicious circumstances tend to show his guilt.

At Ford's and Samon's there was no evidence of Mrs. Ford's murder, and it is thought that her death was accidental at Samon's hands; that wishing to conceal the body he took it downstairs in a trunk, and thence to Ruddy's, whence, perhaps, he could carry it from the house during the night; that Ruddy refused to assist him, when a struggle ensued. The supposition is that Mrs. Ford did either from strangulation or drugging, as she frequently indulged in strong drink.

Samon will be taken to Laconia on Monday for trial. Great excitement prevails, and fears are en-trial. Great excitement prevails, and fears are en-tertained that a vigilance committee will be organ-ized and the prisoner hanged upon his arrival at the ized and the prisoner hanged upon his arrival at the depot.

A later report from Plymouth states that Samon denies all knowledge of the affair, and that his arrest was a perfect surprise. Samon has never been regarded as vicious, even when intoxicated. At a late hour to-night Mrs. Ruddy's condition was no

The well had been dug to a depth of thirty-one feet and bricked up, and the men had bored to the depth of ninety-six feet, when Packlington, who was at the bottom, was overcome by a rush of natural gas. Ballon at once descended and, securing the body, was drawn nearly to the top, when his hold released and he went headlong to the bottom with his dead companion. Some of the neighboring farmers instantly summoned, and when they reached the well they found it nearly full of water, boiling and rolling with the force of a torrent. The two bodies, locked in each other's embrace, were being violently thrown up and swallowed again as the water continued in commotion. Upon the removal of the bodies they were found to be parbolled by the hot water. Both men were married and such had several children. The water in the weil remains in a semi-boiling condition.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE TRIBUNE.] AKRON, Ohio, Nov. 25 .- On Tuesday the wife of Edward Overstock deserted her husband and three children and eloped with Harry Mattucks, one of her boarders. Mattucks was captured, and was on trial yesterday The affair has weighed so heavily upon the mind of the husband that yesterday afternoon he became a maniac. He will be taken to an asylum to-morrow. There is little hope of his recovery. The trial of young Mattneks developed the fact that he is thoroughly heartless. There is strong talk of lynching him.

FURTHER ABOUT A TRAIN ROBBERY.

THE SOUTHERN PACIFIC EXPRESS ATTACKED BY MASKED MEN-THE ENGINEER SHOT.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25 .- A report has been received here that the Southern Pacific train which left here Thursday was captured by a gang of cowboys yesterday afternoon near Gage Station, fifteen miles from Deming, N. M. General Passenger Agent Goodman has received a dispatch that the brakes were applied and the train was stopped time to prevent a general wreck, but locomotive was thrown into a ditch. The following further particulars have since been received from Deming: A Southern Pacific train, bound east, was thrown into a ditch about fifteen miles west of Deming yesterday afternoon, by five masked men, the engine and the mail and express cars being thrown from the track. Engineer Webster was shot and killed by the robbers, who went through the train, holding before them Conductor Vaile and one passenger. They secured $600 or $700 from the express car, the messenger offering no resistance. The train was thrown from the track by removing the fish plate and pushing a rail aside. A deputy-sheriff has organized a posse and gone out on a special train to the scene of the wreck, where he will procure horses and pursue the robbers, who are supposed to be cowboys. ANOTHER ACCOUNT-SEVEN MEN IN THE ATTACK-ING PARTY. KANSAS CITY, Nov. 25 .- A dispatch to The Times from Socorro, N. M., says: " News has reached here of a train-wrecking and robbery four miles east of Gage Station. As an east-bound Southern Pacific senger train passed that point at about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon it was stopped by a party of seven cowboys, who opened fire on the train. About twenty shots were fired, and Engineer Webster was killed. The robbers removed a plate and spread the rails, thus throwing the engine, mail car, ene coach and the front end of a sleeping car from the track. A brakeman who escaped brought in the first account, which was very meagre. The robbers hung around the wreck until night, and then went away, taking with them about $700 from the express car. Full particulars have not yet been learned, as the train has not reached Deming. The commanding officer of the district has been telegraphed to, and the pursuit will be prompt and vigorous."

PITTSBURG, Nov. 25,-Charles Forum and Bertha Engelstaler came to Pittsburg from Germany eleven weeks ago. They were engaged to be married, and intended to be wedded as soon as they settled. Forum could not obtain employment here, and went on to this city, finding employment in a private family. Fre quent letters passed between them until Bertha was taken ill with typhoid fever, and was removed to Mercy Hossill with typhold fever, and was removed to Mercy Hos-pital. Forum, getting no answer to his letters, became alarmed and returned to this city last evening, to find that his betrothed had died in the morning. He was ter-ribly grief-stricken. Bertha was buried in St. Mary's Cemetery this afternoon. Just as the first ciod fell upon her cofin Forum turned away, and, drawing a pistol, shot himself twice in the head. Neither shot was instantly fatal, and he was selzed and disarmed. He now lies at Mercy Hospital with little hopes of his recovery.

EXPERT SHOP-LIFTERS CAUGHT.

A BANQUET TO AMERICAN BISHOPS.

equal proportion. H. D. Cunningham, of Troy, has a strong support and may be able to make the contest a close one. The Clerkship practically seems to rest between Cunningham and Chlekering; Messirs, Johnson, Barker, Abell, Cuyler and Crane having no apparent support. Ex-Assemblyman Crane, of New-York, has Just become a candidate, but is too late to make an effective canvass. As for Jacob C. Cuyler he will not even have the support of the three Albany County Assemblymen. William H. Barker, former Journal Clerk of the Assembly, is said to be pushed for the Clerkship by Senator-elect Daggett, of Brooklyn, but there is good reason to doubt if all of the Brooklyn Assemblymen will yote for him. Edward M. Johnson, former Clerk of the Assembly, claims 40 votes; but they are not now in sight. Mr. Johnson has fallen into disfavor with the men who formerly aided him in his various canvasses for the Clerkship, and they apparently will not support him the present year. Recently there were rumors about Albany that Mr. Johnson and pr. Barker were making serious charges against each other. This led them the past week to issue the following card: Rome, Nov. 25,-Cardinal Jacobini, the Ponfical Secretary of State, gave a banquet to-day in honor of the American bishops. Among the guests were the Cardinals belonging to the Congregation of the Propaganda, the rectors of the American colleges and several foreign prelates. The Americans met with a cordial re

AN OUTLINE OF TO-DAY'S CELEBRATION-A LIST OF DISTINGUISHED MEN.

Yesterday was the one hundredth anniversary of the evacuation of New-York by the British, but the day passed without any public recognition of the fact, except in the allusions made by a few ministers in their sermons. All public ceremonies have been reserved for to-day. early risers in the vicinity of Central Park, or people of wakeful habits within hearing distance, will be greeted at sunrise with a salute fired from the old powder-house in the Park, near McGowan's Pass. This will be the official announcement of the one hundredth anniversary of Evacuation Day. The place for the opening ceremony has been chosen because of its memorable historic associations, in connection with the war of Independence-associations that tell both of defeat and victory. It was in McGowan's Pass, and at a house then occupied by Mrs. McGowan, that Washington and his generals decided on the abandonment of New-York on September 12, 1776, after the defeat of the American forces on Long Island. Seven years later, on November 22, 1783, the small body of Continental troops that were to occupy the city after its evacuation by the British, encamped in McGowan's Pass, and remained in that neighborhood until the 20th, when they entered the city. At the same time that the salute is fired from the old powder-house the national flag will be hoisted on the flagstaff at the Battery not far from the spot where 100 years and a day previous, whether the Vanarsdale story be true or not, the flag of the

that the British had gone and the Americans had taken possession of their own again.

The many strangers who will arrive in the city this morning, and who have not read the mass of information already published about the ceremonies, will be interested in a brief out-line of the prominent features of the celebration and the points from which they may best be seen. The parade column will be set in motion at 9 o'clock, starting from Fifth-ave, and Fifty-seventhst. The line of march is thence down Fifth-ave, to Fourteenth-st., through Fourteenth-st. to Broadway, and down Broadway to Bowling Green, where the column will be reviewed and dismissed. The column will receive an accession to its numbers at each street passed up to and including Thirty-first-st. In these streets various organizations will form before the column passes them, and each in turn will fall into line after the passage of the rear of the column. At any point along the line of march a good view of the procession may be obtained provided the spectator, if not fortunate enough to obtain a seat at one of the windows overlooking the parade, takes his position early, and is stout enough to keep in front, despite the efforts of the crowd to displace him. The crowds will be greatest in the neighborhood of the grand stands. Of these there are four. In Madison Square is placed what is known as the military st. The line of march is thence down Fifth-ave. to the grand stands. Of these there are four. In Madison Square is placed what is known as the military stand. It will be occupied mainly by military organizations. The civic stand is located in Union Square, and will be occupied chiefly by representatives of civic societies and commercial corporations. In the City Hall Park is placed the municipal stand, which will be occupied by the municipal authorities of New-York and Brooklyn. The reviewing stand is erected near Bowling Green. It will be occupied by the President and other distinguished guests, who will review the procession. As this is the most interesting feature of the parade, the crowd in the vicinity of this stand will be nuusually dense, and nobody should seek to enter it whose ribs are not strong enough to resist an inordinate amount of squeezing. Admission to the stands can be had only by tickets, which have been all appropriated.

chough to resist air stands can be had only by tickets, which have been all appropriated.

The statue of Washington will be unveiled on the steps of the Sub-Treasury building, at Wall and Nassau sts, at 1 o'clock. George William Cartis will deliver the oration and the President will except the statue on behalf of the Government. Here also the crowd will be great and to get within earshot one must be there early and exercise great patience in waiting. The most unique feature of the day will be the steamboat parade.

The line will be the steamboat parade.

The line will be formed at 9:30 a. m. from a barge anchored abreast of Bedice's Island. The fleet will steam up the North River to a point opposite Sixtynifth-st.; thence it will return, keeping near the New-York shore, passing the flagship opposite the Bathers where it will be reviewed, and proceeding up orth-st.; thence it will return, keeping hear the New-York shore, passing the flagship opposite the Battery, where it will be reviewed, and proceeding up the East River to a point opposite Twenty-third-st. Thence it will steam down the river, keeping near the Brooklyn side to Bay Ridge, where it will be dismissed. An excellent view of the water parade is obtainable from any point or pier on the river front from Sixty-nith-st. North River, to Twenty-third-st., East River. The pyrotechnic display this evening will be under the management of James Pain, of Manhattan Beach fame, to whom, in conder the management of James Manhattan Beach fame, to whom, nection with the Uxexcelled Manhattan Beach fame, to whom, in connection with the Uxexcelled Fireworks Company and Detwiller & Street, the contract was awarded yesterda yby the committee of arrangements. There be only one display, which will come off at the Battery between 8 and 9 o'clock. The Bridge trustees would not consent to a display from that structure. On account of the small appropriation and the shortness of the time there will be no set pieces. An interesting exhibition will, however, be given, consisting of bombs, rockets of all kinds, parachutes, asteroids, special flights of rockets, colored-fire illuminations, and magnesium light balloons. The programme will wind up with a grand final flight of about one thousand rockets.

ARRIVAL OF DISTINGUISHED GUESTS.
